Jose Iturbi To Perform Pianist-Conductor To Play Varied Compositions

Jose Iturbi, Spanish pianist-composer-conductor, will present a recital here, for the first time, as the last featured artist on this season's concert-lecture program in the high school gymnasium on April 7 at 8:15.

Iturbi first arrived in the United States in 1929 after presenting many concerts in Europe where he was highly acclaimed. In that

Mary Caswell '46 Receives Award

Mary L. Caswell '46 became the fourth member of the Women's College to receive the annual Marion L. Young Scholarship Award. The $100 check was presented in chapel on Friday by Mrs. John T. Andrews, chairman of the committee of judges.

The award is given on the basis of participation and interest in W. A. A. activities, scholarship, and character. It was established in 1938 in memory of Marion L. Young, head of the Physical Education Department, who was killed in an automobile accident.

Miss Caswell has been outstanding in W. A. A. sports as a member of the All-Midd volleyball team and freshman captain of the basketball and volleyball teams. In addition to this, she was on the first team in class hockey games and competitor in the tennis tournament.

Members of the committee who awarded the scholarship were Miss Eleanor S. Ross, dean of women; Miss Mary S. Rosevear,

Blue Key Taps Men Thursday

Five Seniors Chosen; Fifteen, Class of '44 And Six Sophomores

Edward E. Shea '43, presided at the traditional tapping of new members of the Blue Key Society held after Chapel service on Thursday, April 1. He explained that qualifications for membership in the honor society included scholarship, evidence of leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities.

Those tapped were: James G. Clark '43, Vance A. Richardson '43, Reginald Woodbridge '43, Charles F. Baird '44, George H. Booth '44, Alfred G. Boissevain '44, John B. Cadwell '44, Robert P. Darrow '44, Horace J. Depodwin '44, Edward D. Fleming '44, Raymond H. Fox '44, Richard S. Kinsey '44, Harold P. Parker '44, Robert E. Reuman '44, Lynn R. Sackett '44, David T. Stebbins '44, Hugh M. Taft '44, Daniel M. Colyer '45, Edward F. Cooke '45, Philip H. Dunham '45, Roy H. Kinsey '45, John J. McGarry '45, and David S. Palmstrom '45.

Earle J. Bishop '43, and Thomas F. Cruess '44, now in the armed services, were also named as new members by President Shea.

Alchemists To Display Chemistry

By Emory P. Mersereau '44
Features at the Chemistry Open House and Show to be given April 9 by the newly-formed Alchemists Club will be a program of interesting chemical entertainment plus an open tour of the various laboratories, one to the afternoon beginning at 2:30 and one in the evening at 7:15. Besides being a pleasant entertainment, the purpose of the show is to acquaint those not chemically-minded with what is going on in a technical nature around the campus. It is the first major activity of the new club and it is free to everyone who wishes to come.

Lab Demonstrations
During the first hour of both the afternoon and evening programs, all of the various laboratories will be running in full action demonstrating chemical processes and equipment of interest and significance to the present day world. Among the exhibits will be a working model of a fractionating column oil refining apparatus, in which some members of the club will demonstrate the refining of gasoline and other hydrocarbons.

There will also be a chance for visitors to try their skill at some of the more creative of the laboratory practices such as blowing glass and making invisible inks. In another of the laboratories Prof. P. Conant Voter is planning an unusual exhibit, including many things of historical interest. The opportunity is extended to the visitor to browse from one lab exhibit to another. As a supplement to the exhibit, "The Cavalcade of Chemistry," will be shown continuously during the first part of the program.

Eerie Brewings
Perhaps the most enjoyable part will be the hour Alchemit Show where the entertainment will progress in the atmosphere of luminescent brewings and eerie fires. Although there will be nothing as spectacular as the traditional transmutation of base metals into gold, much of the

JUNIORS TAPPED BY HONOR GROUP

Six members of the junior class were elected to Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, in the traditional tapping ceremony on April 5 in daily chapel.

Lois A. Hanchett, Jean E. Ledden, Ingrid H. Monk, Doris A. Orth, Irene B. Ruthenberg, and Mary D. Sparks were tapped as 1944 Mortar Board members.

Nancy Cowgill, Margaret Dounce, president, Dorothy E. Forsythe, Carolyn P. Ohlander, Elizabeth von Thurn, Lenore E. Wolff, and Virginia I. Wynn are last year's members, chosen for outstanding qualities of leadership, service and scholarship with an average at least three points above the standard of the college.

Middlebury chapter of Mortar Board was established in 1928. Before this time there was a Banshee Society that chose their members for the same qualities and performed the tapping ceremony in the middle of the night.

Expect to Occupy Hepburn, Gifford Around July 1

"This letter will confirm that Middlebury College has been selected as a site for a naval training school under the new Navy College Training program, beginning on or about July 1." This is the affirmative statement which the college received on April 3 concerning the final decision as to whether or not a unit would be sent to Middlebury.

Middlebury was approved by the Joint Committee for the Selection of Non-Federal Educational Institutions of which Dr. E. C. Elliot is chairman. The navy has requested that the college be prepared to accommodate a "minimum" of 500 men, and it has also requested that Hepburn and Gifford halls be reserved for the housing of those men. A letter has been sent out in which Pres. Samuel S. Stratton has assured the navy that these requests will be met.

Detailed planning and negotiations will be carried out at some later date.

Naval Reserves

A certain proportion of the Navy men who will train here will be pre-medical students. It is expected that 80 percent of those men who will be enrolled at Middlebury will be college upper-classmen who have been selected from the various naval reserves. These men taken from such programs as the V-1 and V-7 divisions will be worked in under the new V-12 program.

The courses outlined under the V-12 program do not differ too widely from those offered in any college catalogue. Men who attend college under this law will in so far as they are able be part of the normal college program, participating in college life and extra-curricular activities to the extent of time which they find available.

Although such reservists will be in the same military status as all others involved in the V-12 program, none of them will be required to enter the new, fully prescribed V-12 curricula; but within the limits of their desired "major" interest, it is hoped that they will wish to include as many of the V-12 subjects as possible.

Old Instruments Displayed in Talk By Dr. A. Hess

Recorders of four different sizes and an old-fashioned spinet were played by Dr. Albert G. Hess of Goddard College in Plainfield, Vt., and Mr. Robert McKee in a musical lecture in Monroe 303 on Tuesday, March 30.

Dr. Hess opened the program with a short talk on old musical instruments and their place in the world today. In the seventeenth century, the recorder, or English flute was a very popular instrument. Henry the Eighth is said to have had 75 recorders as well as six wives! Bach made extensive use of the instrument.

The spinet, or virginal, which was played by Mr. McKee, looks like a tiny piano with the white and black keys reversed. It is said that the French considered this arrangement to provide a more beautiful background for the hands.

After his talk, Dr. Hess and Mr. McKee played some very early dance forms from France, Italy, England, and Holland. A sonata of Handel's and the oldest documentary music written for keyboard were also included in a varied and complete recital.

Plans Made For Seniors

Mary Barclay '43 and James G. Clark '43 have been elected by the senior class as co-chairmen of this year's Senior Week.

At a meeting held Saturday the various committee heads were appointed. In charge of announcements are William H. Desmond and Phyllis L. Dodds. In charge of a luncheon replacing the traditional barbecue are Edward T. Peach and Frances F. Head. To cut down on expenses the usual Senior Ball has been eliminated and a Senior Get-together has been planned for Friday night. In charge of this committee are Vance A. Richardson and June M. Archibald. Step singing is under the supervision of Louise C. Wilkin. Heading the committee on caps and gowns are James W. Averill and Helen M. Bouck.

Due to war conditions, expenses are being cut as much as possible. It is expected that fewer parents and alumni will be present. However, plans are being made to include many of the traditional customs of Senior Week.

The annual trustees' meeting will be held this week-end. Baccalaureate will take place Sunday followed by commencement exercises on Monday morning, May 3.

Rosa Alaco of Peru Will Speak April 12 On Native Costumes

Colorful Peruvian costumes, typifying the meeting of Spanish and native civilizations, will be the keynote of a program to be presented by Srta. Rosa Alaco, Peruvian friend of Srta. Juan A. Centeno, April 12, at 8:15 p. m. in Monroe Auditorium.

Srta. Alaco thinks of her country as divided into three parts: the sierras, the montanas, or plateaus, and the coast. She will describe the inhabitants, the climate, and the landscapes of each section, thus giving a basic picture of the geography of Peru.

Colored movies will punctuate Srta. Alaco's talk, providing actual illustrations of the influences of Spanish and Indian elements upon native life and dress. She will also give her version of several native songs, accompanying herself on the guitar.

Highlights on the coastal region will include descriptions of China and Criollos, eighteenth and nineteenth century Lima, and the wearers of mantas and mantillas. Negroes have had much influence on the folklore of this part of Peru.

Jose Iturbi

same year he was asked to be the soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra and from there he went to New York to play with the Philharmonic.

Orchestra Conductor

Since Iturbi's arrival in the United States he has conducted with orchestras in the largest cities and has played several of his own compositions as soloist. He conducted the first three weeks in the Lewisohn Stadium in the first series of summer concerts there.

Iturbi Program

Usually Iturbi's programs include several selections by Wagner, Beethoven and Bach which he believes that they are what he terms "musical giants." Those who have heard him perform especially appreciate his interpretation of Debussy and Liszt's music.

W. A. A. Elects J. Harris '44 As President

Janet S. Harris '44 was elected president of W. A. A. in the meeting of the members held in Forest Recreation Hall Saturday, April 3.

Charlotte P. Hickcox '45 is the new vice-president. The members also chose Helen A. Beardslee '44 for the office of treasurer, Margery Johnston '45 as custodian and Mary L. Caswell '46 for the secretary. The new officers go into office at the beginning of the summer semester.

Junior and senior women may obtain gym credit by taking the hiking and bicycling trips which leave the gym every day except Saturday at 4:15 p. m., weather permitting.

Hikes are scheduled every day. Some of the routes are out the west road to the schoolhouse, out Washington Street to Bingham, out Weybridge Street, up Chipman Hill, out the athletic road past Porter Hospital and out the golf course road to Bedford's.

FACE REALITY

Jay Allen's vivid talk here last week should bring home more forcibly than ever the fact that we cannot and should not live in a political vacuum as citizens now of the United States, and later citizens of the world.

It is far too easy for us in the comparative security and isolation of a small New England college to fall victims of that disease of complacency and overpowering self-interest which so imperiled our national security in the pre-Pearl Harbor days.

Unless there is to be a relapse after the war—a retreat into smugness and isolationism—we cannot now evade the responsibility of youth to think and act as intelligently as we can about what is happening in the world around us.

In answer to a question as to what a college student can do to prevent such a relapse or retreat, Mr. Allen, probably without prior knowledge of it, outlined the current activities of the Student Action assembly and the vital importance of such work in the formation of an informed public opinion which can exert a powerful influence on the final determination of our national policies.

And yet there is a comparatively large group in college which persists in ridiculing such effort; a group whose preoccupation with trivialities, and whose refusal to devote the slightest attention to national or international affairs are already sowing the seeds for yet a third great war.

This is not a matter to be passed off lightly. Mr. Allen emphasized the bloodshed which marked the opening of the invasion of North Africa. Many of us here now will probably be dead within the next two or three years.

Unless our lives, and the ones already sacrificed, will have been given up in vain, we must come to terms with reality and face the necessity for a little more attention to world affairs, in an effort to seek out and destroy the roots of the disease which has taken such a toll.

P. S. J.

ON YOUR HONOR

This year, with the innovation of representative government, a new responsibility was added to the Women's College—the honor system was established.

This was something the women had been asking for and now they have it. While on the whole the new system of government has proven its potentialities, it can be said that the honor system has been taken far too lightly. It is not something to be shuttled around. It was installed with the idea that it would be of benefit to all concerned.

The women felt they were capable of governing and disciplining themselves, and they should be! Under the speeded up program, everyone is busy and the honor system was established not only for the good it could do for individuals but, also, for the endless amounts of record keeping and "checking up" it would relieve.

Floor Chairmen

It is no longer the duty or right of a housemother to give warnings but that does not mean that discipline is entirely an individual matter. It means that a floor chairman has confidence placed in her to judge the conduct of others. She has been accredited capable of saying when there is too much noise, since noisemakers are not always aware of the distraction they may be causing. On the other hand, in case of latenesses it is up to the girl to report herself. In so doing she is saving someone else the trouble of looking out for her.

It is ridiculously to say that the women are not capable of disciplining themselves, yet if they can not prove they are then this privilege can be removed. In a business world your first warning is usually your last. People don't have time to look at the problem leisurely and give you another chance. It is up to you to assume responsibility from the first. If responsibility can be taken in smaller things then it can be taken in larger things. As one Chapel speaker pointed out, it would be a progressive sentence to extend the honor system to such things as exam periods and thereby eliminate the necessity of proctors.

This discussion seems too obvious to bear printing, but it is apparently not as obvious as it seems. It appears to be a trivial topic and yet perfection of detail is the only way to make the big idea work. And the "big idea" is to prove that the student body of the Women's College is fully able to look out for themselves and delegate responsibility wisely!

Allen Talks On Foreign Battlefronts

Lecturer Reports Own Experiences

By Eleanor R. Burt '45

In an interest-gripping yet delightfully informal manner, Jay Allen, recently returned newspaper correspondent from the North African front, gave a thought-provoking presentation of his experiences in various theatres of war and of some of the problems involved in the present conflict.

Graphically he described the United States expedition to Morocco at the time of our invasion there in November, 1942. Mr. Allen was on one of the boats, shared the anxiety that the Germans would spot them and their two convoys, and witnessed the actual attack of our men on the continent. His ship was surrounded by submarines and torpedo fire, and he saw the energetic resistance of the French put down within three days. Our present position in North Africa he quoted as "the soft under belly of the Axis."

North Africa

But mistakes were made in North Africa that it is not made again, he maintained. We were slow about releasing the De Gaulists from jail, and there are still Spanish in jail in Africa; at Algiers, two hundred French citizens were arrested by Vichy guards while the Americans landed. Things like this cause our allies to distrust us, and our allies are terrifically important. When a second front is opened, and we land in Europe as we must—our purpose must be made clear to the people there. "If we are going to try to save Europe from cancer," said Mr. Allen, "we must be very sure that the knife is not rusty."

Lt. Cassidy '41 Describes His Army Travels

The following note has come to Mr. Wiley from Lt. James Cassidy, '41, Headquarters Battery, 54th C. A. Regiment, Capitola, Calif.

"I don't know through whose courtesy I've been receiving 'The Campus' regularly, but I must say that I do appreciate it very much, and through you I want to thank those responsible. The longer I'm away from Midd the fewer are my acquaintances who remain there, and 'The Campus' as an old acquaintance forms a very fine contact with the college for me. Above is my newest mailing address for your files.

"I saw Middlebury and made my first reunion last spring while on leave from my camp in New Jersey, but don't expect I'd better try it this year. Since last spring many miles have been checked on my log-book, and many varied experiences have been my fortune. Try to follow me: From Fort Dix, N. J., we crossed the country and half an ocean and finally landed in beautiful Hawaii. Out there I had what some call a 'rocket'—I slept, drove a big old truck around, swam at lovely Waikiki beach, slept, sang in a church every Sunday, munched pineapples and bananas, played tennis, wrote poetry to a girl that 150 other soldiers were courting, read Oriental philosophy under our banyan tree, waited for the mail to come in, griped about the food, and slept.

"On the islands until October as an acting private first class but then was finally accepted for training in Officers' Candidate School, so I came back to Virginia for the winter to try to improve my status. After a hectic struggle with my Uncle Sam's profs and courses which make comprehensions look easy, I finally got a commission—only to find I was outranked by everybody but a T. 5th.

"Am now in beautiful California, fishing in Monterey Bay and enjoying it while I may, for who knows where next!

"Here are my best remembrances to you, your family and any other Middleburyites who may read this."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of the CAMPUS:

In reference to the "few comments on the sports page" which appeared in last week's issue of the CAMPUS, we have a few things to say.

"It is a good example of making a 'mountain out of a mole hill.'" The now famous remark about the "liquid training diet" was not meant as a stab in the back at anybody. Our mistake was in printing it, because we should have realized that some sensitive Middlebury students would take it as a personal insult. We're sorry—it wasn't meant that way. The sarcastic vein of the letter—and the swearing included—gave to the criticisms a nasty personal aspect, and certainly do not belong in a college paper.

Perhaps we shouldn't mention drinking or training or anything that's wrong with athletics at Midd—people evidently don't want to be told where the weaknesses are—but this is in the province of the sports editorship, we are convinced.

One thing which we have stressed for the past two years on the sports page is being impartial when writing up the events. We feel that the insinuation that the news all year has been presented in a prejudiced manner is completely unjustified. The statement was not corroborated by any specific references and we feel certain that there are none. Sincerely,

William H. Calkins '44
Sports Editor.

THE INTRAMURAL TROPHY RACE

By Lynn Sackett

The halfway point in the softball schedule finds DKE leading the league, with SPE and DU close behind.

Chi Psi was leading, 6-4, in the fifth inning of their game against SPE, when the Sig Eps rallied to score nine runs on five bases from balls and some timely base hits. This provided the margin of victory as SPE won, 13-10. Ed Fleming starred for Chi Psi, hitting two home runs on his first two trips to the plate, driving in five runs.

DU had little trouble taking the measure of Theta Chi, winning by a score of 27-11. The DU first team, after scoring 25 runs in the first three innings retired from the game. The second team held the lead for the last four innings.

After Theta Chi took a 4-2 lead over DKE in the second inning, the latter went ahead and, scoring in every inning, won easily 23-8.

The Neutrals had trouble battling against Bill Desmond's fast ball in the not to well lighted gymnasium as DKE downed them, 19-1, scoring seven runs in both the second and fourth innings. A typical flatbush flub by Fred Lapham in the last inning cost Bill a shutout.

KDR got off to a four-run lead in the first inning against Chi Psi and led 5-3 in the fourth, when the Chipies blew the game wide open with a nine-run splurge, winning 12-7.

The Dekes scored in every inning against SPE and won 17 to 4. Bill Desmond held SPE scoreless for the first five innings.

Relays

DU has continued to lead the field in both relays being run at the present.

In the medley they nosed out DKE in a race that was much closer than had been expected. Bill Hawkes turned in a spectacular quarter-mile, coming from behind to give Dick Morehouse a slight lead over Art Pepin at the start of the half mile legs. Dick increased the lead in the first four laps of the half but nearly lost it as Pepin almost caught him with a sprint at the finish. The DU time was a new low for the year—3:58.8. The Deke time, 3:54.2, was also better than any previous mark.

ASP and Theta Chi, both in the running for second place, met last Friday under terrible weather conditions, a wet snow storm. Paul Davis ran a very nice 54.3 second quarter-mile to give Don Gilmore a lead over Theta Chi's Art Goodrich. But Goodrich ran a cool, steady race, overcame the lead, and won going away.

Other results in the medley have been: Theta Chi, DU, SPE, and DKE defeated Chi Psi, the Neutrals, KDR, and ASP, respectively. Chi Psi, ASP, and Theta Chi downed the Neutrals, KDR, and SPE. The Neutrals and Dekes won

513 Young Women

FROM 151 COLLEGES

are now enrolled at Katharine Gibbs, training to do their share for victory in important secretarial positions, and, incidentally, insuring their own economic safety in post-war days. Courses exclusively for college women begin July 6 and Sept. 21. Send for booklet, "GIBBS GIRLS AT WORK."

Freshmen Plan To Hold Picnic

The Freshman class will give a picnic Saturday, April 10, beginning at 5:15 p. m., on the women's athletic field providing the weather conditions are favorable. In case of bad weather it would be held in Forest recreation hall.

This will take the place of a Frosh Frolic this year. Each dormitory from both sides of the campus will present a short skit or some other sort of stunt and there will be a softball game between the men and the women. Songs and a campfire will complete the picnic and an informal gym dance will follow which will be open to all classes.

Robert A. Fuller and Lucinda Darby are co-chairmen in charge of the event and committees under their direction are: Leila Taylor and Clement B. Lewis, co-chairmen of the foods committee, with George H. Hennig, David S. Pollard, H. Glen Remington, Elizabeth Barclay, Barbara Rupp, and Elizabeth Price making up the committee. In charge of entertainment are Carol Becker and Edwin D. Gustafson assisted by John S. D'Aquila, Edward A. Kruger, Donald B. Strong, Norma Taylor, Gladys Swift and Ruth Riley. The dance committee includes David E. Tompson and Vava B. Stafford, co-chairmen with Robert G. Williams and Barbara H. Flink.

In Days Past

Annual expenses for the year 1827 were:
Tuition, $5.00 per quarter, $20 per year;
Room Rent, $1.50 per quarter, $6.00 per year;
Repairs, $1.50 per quarter, $6.00 per year, making a total of $32.00.
Students boarded in private families; therefore the price varied from $1 to $1.50 per week.

Positions Open to Language Students

WAAC Positions

The WAAC can use translators and interpreters of French, German, Italian, Russian, Portuguese, Japanese and Chinese. Applicants must be between 21 and 44, physically fit, and with no dependents.

Further opportunities for those who know languages include the import-export agency, Beacon Language Bureau, Bank of London and South America, Ltd., Journalism in Spanish for the Department of Agriculture, Reader's Digest in Spanish, South American Grace Line, typewriting and stenography for Peruvian and Colombian embassies and Pan-American Airways.

Jobs in which foreign language knowledge would be of distinct advantage include authorship, foreign trade, international law, international relations work, librarianship, missionary work, secretarial work, social service, tourist business and travel agencies, visiting professorships and waiters.

As the above proves, languages in themselves are of limited practical value. But coupled with a further skill, the possibilities of the worker are considerably increased.

Further information may be obtained from Miss Marion Wolcott, vocational director, Forest East. A severe shortage of censors for German, Italian, Japanese, Portuguese and Albanian provides an opportunity for women especially who have been proven more patient on the average than men in this line of work.

by forfeit from SPE and KDR while DU defeated Chi Psi.

Sprint Relay

The sprint relay has gone along on schedule and without any upsets. DU continued to hold first place, being seriously challenged only by the ASP's in a race that was won by a fast anchor lap run by Bill Hawkes.

Other results in the sprint have been: KDR, DU, and Theta Chi defeated SPE, the Neutrals, and Chi Psi. Theta Chi, Chi Psi and DKE won from KDR, SPE, and the Neutrals.

"That's what a soldier wrote home about. Ask the man in the ranks how Coca-Cola rates with him. Ask the man behind the PX counter. They'll both tell you,—when it comes to refreshment, nothing takes the place of ice-cold Coca-Cola. Energy-giving refreshment . . . quality you can count on . . . distinctive, delicious taste,—all combine to prove a point that needs no proving: The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself."

ALUMNI GROUPS MEET STRATTON IN RECENT TOUR

President Stratton and Mr. Wiley, alumni secretary, returned recently from an alumni dinner trip to the Middle West. Their itinerary included a stop at Chicago on Saturday, March 20, where Middlebury people met at the Stevens Building Restaurant for dinner and an evening of Middlebury fellowship; John B. Todd, '20, was in charge of arrangements. On Monday, March 22, a dinner was held in the Lotus Room of the New Plankinton Hotel, Milwaukee, with Marshall M. Klevenow, '25, heading the committee in charge. On Tuesday, March 23, the University Club in Cleveland was the meeting place for Middlebury people in that section, and plans for the dinner were made by Mrs. E. W. Bralley, '19. Alton R. Huntington, '27, was chairman of the committee in charge of the dinner at the Wardell in Detroit Wednesday evening, March 24th.

Parents of Middlebury undergraduates as well as alumni in the various centers seemed especially interested this year in the problems of the College and the recent developments at Middlebury as reported in President Stratton's remarks and through the color movies.

Etude Contributor

Etude is the magazine for which Iturbi writes many articles on piano techniques. A Times reporter said that Iturbi was assured of a high place in the music world until as bright a sensation as himself came along to displace him.

Characteristically like Iturbi are several traits: arriving late for concerts (very seldom punctual), dislikes jazz, hot dogs and flash bulbs and can get very enraged about these dislikes. He has a sort of caddy who accompanies him on his tours. The man fixes his piano stool exactly the height required but Iturbi always manages to change it according to his whims.

Scheduled to appear here in December Iturbi was unexpectedly called to make a picture for M.G.M. studios in California. Besides his movie work, orchestral conducting and piano concerts he has also found time to perform on different radio hours, not long ago appearing on the Kraft Music Hall program.

Chemistry Display

show will hold the interest of those entirely ignorant of things chemical.

According to the program committee Dr. Ray T. Wenland, Donald I. Gale '43, John T. Jensen '43, Virginia E. Clemens '43, Sanford P. Young '44, and Lois A. Hanchett '44, the purpose of the show is to make clear just what the attractive force is that holds the chem majors around the building until 6 o'clock for a lab that ends at 4:15. Included in the entertainment will be a series of demonstrations with liquid air, a few dying experiments, the creation of a chemical garden, soap-making, and a number of more pertinent experiments such as the fundamental principles and practice of water purification.

Alchemist In Action

While the first part will contain the more serious side of the picture, those interested in an evening of good entertainment will not be disappointed in the second part of the show. The spectator will have the rare chance of seeing the professors of the department in their native atmosphere, but without the usual business-like approach. The Alchemists are interesting bits of humanity. You won't miss them in action, especially "Chunky" Gale, who will act as master of ceremonies.
